The Diyasaru Park Wetlands

Formally known as the “Biodiversity Study Park,” the Diyasaru Park is located in the urban areas of Colombo. Over 230 species of fauna have been recorded from the park which includes species of rare & migrant birds, butterflies, dragonflies, fish, amphibians, mammal and reptiles. Reportedly there are fishing cats in the park which are listed as ‘vulnerable’ on the IUCN Red List.

The park facilitates a bird watching tower and a bird hide for ample viewing of birds.
